ORDER

THIS MATTER is before the Court on the Defendants' Motions to Seal [Docs. 186, 189].

The Defendants move for leave to file under seal their Memorandum in Opposition to Plaintiff's Motion for Partial Summary Judgment [Doc. 187] and Memorandum in Opposition to Plaintiff's Motion to Strike [Doc. 190]. The Defendants have also filed redacted versions of the same documents. [Docs. 185, 188]. The Plaintiff does not oppose the Defendants' motions. [Docs. 186, 189].

The press and the public have, under both the First Amendment and the common law, a qualified right of access to judicial documents and records filed in civil and criminal proceedings. Doe v. Public Citizen, 749 F.3d 246, 265 (4th Cir. 2014). “The common-law presumptive right of access extends to all judicial documents and records, and the presumption can be rebutted only by showing that ‘countervailing interests heavily outweigh the public interests in access.’” Id. at 265-66 (quoting in part Rushford v. New Yorker Magazine, Inc., 846 F.2d 249, 253 (4th Cir. 1988)). The First Amendment right of access “may be restricted only if closure is ‘necessitated by a compelling government interest’ and the denial of access is ‘narrowly tailored to serve that interest.’” Id. at 266 (quoting in part In re Wash. Post Co., 807 F.2d 383, 390 (4th Cir. 1986)).

When presented with a motion to seal, the law of this Circuit requires this Court to: “(1) provide public notice of the request to seal and allow interested parties a reasonable opportunity to object, (2) consider less drastic alternatives to sealing the documents, and (3) provide specific reasons and factual findings supporting its decision to seal the documents and for rejecting the alternatives.” Ashcraft v. Conoco, Inc., 218 F.3d 288, 302 (4th Cir. 2000).

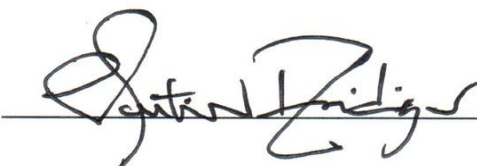

In the present case, the public has been provided with adequate notice and an opportunity to object to the Defendants’ motions. The Defendants’ motions were filed on April 17, 2024, and have been accessible to the public through the Court's electronic case filing system since that time. Further, the Defendants have demonstrated that the memorandums and exhibits at issue reference the sensitive and personal health information of the Plaintiff, and that the public's right of access to such information is substantially outweighed by the compelling interest in protecting the details of such information from public disclosure. Finally, having considered less drastic alternatives to sealing the documents, the Court concludes that the sealing of these materials is narrowly tailored to serve the interest of protecting this sensitive information.

IT IS, THEREFORE, ORDERED that the Defendants' Motions to Seal [Docs. 186, 189] are GRANTED, and the documents filed as Document 187 and Document 190 shall remain under seal until further Order of the Court.

IT IS SO ORDERED.
